NEW FACULTY BUILDING

St. Joseph's College
PHILADELPHIA

Seventeenth and Stiles Streets.

HISTORICAL STATEMENT.

St. Joseph's College is conducted by members of the Society of Jesus. It was first opened in September, 1851, beside St. Joseph's Church, 317 Willing's Alley, and was chartered by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania on January 27, 1852. From September, 1855, to June, 1860, the classes were conducted at Filbert and Juniper Streets, and from 1860 to 1876 at "Old St. Joseph's." The present site, the square bounded by Seventeenth, Thompson, Eighteenth and Stiles Streets, with a frontage of 1,320 feet, was purchased in 1866, and a preparatory Latin class was opened in the basement of the Parochial School. Under such circumstances only a very limited number of students could be accommodated.

When the completion of the new church on Eighteenth and Stiles Streets made the chapel building available for class purposes, the College, on September 1, 1889, was opened to all comers, provided they could bring good references and pass a satisfactory examination.

Recent extensions and improvements to the College embrace a new building, having a frontage on Seventeenth Street of 200 feet, and the College Auditorium erected over the original building.

During the past year the new Faculty building, occupying a portion of the fourth side of the great quadrangle, was completed. Its total length is 159.4 feet, main depth 60 feet, and elevation from basement to roof 70 feet. The old residence has been remodeled and now contains a number of bright, airy class-rooms, a large and commodious sodality chapel and assembly halls for the various College societies.

System of Education

The educational system of St. Joseph's College and the course of studies are substantially the same as in all other Colleges of the Society of Jesus. Those who are desirous of making either a scientific or historical study of that system, have abundant sources of information in the following works: Monumenta Germaniae Pedagogica, Vols. II, V, IX, XVI. Un Collège de Jesuites, par C. De Rochemonteix, S.J., and for a shorter, but complete commentary on the Ratio Studiorum, the reader is referred to "Jesuit Education," by Robert Schwickerath, S.J. (Herder, St. Louis, 1903).

The subjoined brief outline of the underlying principles of the system, the dominant features of its method, and the object aimed at by its teaching, will give a general idea of its purpose.

Education, in its complete sense, is understood by us as the full and harmonious development of the intellectual, moral and physical powers of man. It is not, therefore, mere instruction or the acquisition of knowledge, although instruction and the acquisition of knowledge necessarily accompany any right system of education. But the gaining of knowledge is a secondary, or at any rate, a concomitant result of education. Learning is an instrument of education, not its end. The end is culture, and mental and moral development.

Hence, such instruments of education, that is, such studies, sciences or languages are chosen as will effectively further the end proposed. These studies are selected, moreover, in such numbers only as are sufficient and helpful to ensure a gradual and natural development of the students' powers. The purpose of the mental training given is not proximately to fit the student for some special employment or profession, but to give him so general and rounded a development that he will be enabled to cope successfully even with the unforeseen emergencies of life.

The studies, therefore, are so graded and classified as to be adapted to the mental growth of the student and the scientific unfolding of knowledge; they are so chosen and communicated that the student gradually and harmoniously will reach, as nearly as may be, that measure of culture of which he is capable.

It is fundamental in the system of the Ratio Studiorum that different studies have distinct and special educational values and in their judicious combination bring about the desired result.

Lastly, the system does not share the illusion of those who seem to imagine that education, understood as an enriching and stimulating of the intellectual faculties, has a morally elevating influence in human life. While conceding the effects of education in energizing and refining imagination, taste, understanding and the powers of observation, we have always held that knowledge and intellectual development in themselves have no moral efficacy. Religion alone can purify the heart and guide and strengthen the will.

The Jesuit system of education, then, aims at developing, side by side, the moral and intellectual faculties of the student, and sending forth to the world men of sound judgment, of acute and rounded intellect, of upright and manly conscience. And since men are not made better citizens by the mere accumulation of knowledge, without a guiding and controlling force, the principal faculties to be developed are the moral faculties. Moreover, morality is to be taught continuously; it must be the underlying base, the vital force supporting and animating the whole organic structure of education. It must be the atmosphere the student breathes; it must suffuse with its light all that he reads, illumining all that is noble and exposing what is base, giving to the true and the false their relative light and shade.

In a word, the purpose of Jesuit teaching is to lay a solid sub-structure in the whole mind and character for any superstructure of science, professional and special; and for the upbuilding of moral, civil and religious life.

LITERATURE AND SCIENCE.

The study of Literature and Science has ever been considered the chief means of acquiring a liberal education. In the domain of letters, the Latin and Greek tongues, by reason of their perfect structure and their possession of the great masterpieces of literature, are entitled to the place of honor in a course of liberal studies. The study of Latin and Greek, besides affording, by comparison, a true insight into the nature of language, and exercise for the mind in mastering the genius of those tongues, presents to the student, as he advances, the best specimens of human composition and the highest aspirations of the mind unaided by revelation. Mathematics and the Natural Sciences, on the other hand, give the mind an exactness in reasoning which literature, alone, is unable to develop.

In the study of Latin and Greek the vernacular is never lost sight of; rather it is, in a great measure, to perfect the student in English that these languages are studied; and hence an accurate and scholarly rendering of the classic texts is exacted throughout the course. As the process of translating demands new words and new combinations of words, it is evident that one's mastery of the ideas of the ancients must result in a greater fluency and a more perfect mastery of one's native language. Besides this, the study of the English classics is held in honor and is pursued as thoroughly as that of the ancient authors.

RELIGIOUS TRAINING.

Religious instruction, as being of paramount importance, receives special attention. Christian doctrine is taught, both by lesson and by lecture in every grade of the course.

Catholic doctrine alone is taught, but pupils of other denominations, should they be admitted to the classes, will not be disturbed in their religious opinions. To foster a spirit of piety among the students, the League of the Sacred Heart and the Blessed Virgin's Sodality are established. Attendance at Mass once a week, on Saturdays, and monthly Confession and Communion are of obligation.

DIVISION OF THE YEAR.

The scholastic year is divided into two terms. The first begins on the second Monday in September; the second, in the first week of February. An examination on the matter seen in class takes place at the end of each term.

EXAMINATIONS, PROMOTIONS, PRIZES.

In order to secure accurate, and, as far as possible, thorough knowledge, no student will be allowed to pass on to new matter until he has shown proficiency in that already studied. If the required percentage at the examination is not attained, the matter must be repeated and a satisfactory test given before promotion takes place.

Advancement from class to class depends entirely on proficiency. Promotions regularly take place at the beginning of the year. Special competitions determine the special prizes.

MONTHLY REPORT.

Once a month the standing of the students in their respective classes is publicly announced and a report of proficiency sent to their parents. This report should be signed by the parent and returned immediately to the teacher. From this report parents can learn what progress is being made by their sons, and whether or not more time should be devoted to home study.

HOME STUDY.

As no time is allowed for study during the day's session, parents should see that tasks are prepared at home. It is useless to hope for good results unless pupils seriously devote themselves in private to mastering the work assigned them. As a general rule three hours should be spent each day in preparing for class work. In the higher classes much more time is required. We must earnestly remind parents that neither justice to our pupils nor the traditions of our colleges will permit us to retain a student who either cannot or will not study with profit. As a certain degree of talent and much industry are required for success, it follows that any notable incapacity for higher education or any persistent neglect of studies would warrant our dropping a student from the rolls. Accordingly, any pupil who falls below the minimum average two months in succession forfeits his right to remain in the College.

ATTENDANCE.

To obtain the best results possible nothing but strict necessity should interfere with a boy's presence every day and the whole day. Not only does the absentee lose the instruction given in class on the day of his absence, but his mind is distracted on his return. Two days in each week and two months in the year, besides the Christmas and Easter holidays, give sufficient rest, even from severe study.

PHYSICAL TRAINING.

Every facility is afforded for physical development by encouraging activity in the various sports and regular gymnastic exercises.

RELAXATION.

Thursday is the regular weekly holiday. Experience proves that the rest from study is more beneficial in the middle than at the end of the week. An interval of fifteen minutes is given for recreation at the end of the second hour; at noon, one-half hour is allowed for luncheon.

ADMISSION.

Applicants for admission to the College, unless personally known to some member of the faculty, must bring a satisfactory testimonial of good conduct. Those who come from other colleges must present a like testimonial from the college authorities. Students who do not intend to pursue the major part of the course, either here or elsewhere, will not be admitted.

FEES.

The charge for tuition in the High School Department is thirty dollars per term of five months. The charge for tuition in the College Department is fifty dollars per term of five months. The bill for the first term will be presented on or before October 1st and is to be paid on or before November 1st. The bill for the second term will be presented on or before February 1st and is to be paid on or before March 1st.

For the use of apparatus in Physical and Chemical Laboratories an extra fee of five dollars will be charged each term.

Conditioned students will also be taxed for the special examination in the branch in which they failed.

NEW FACULTY CHAPEL

REGULATIONS

For the Students of St. Joseph's College.

The College gates are opened at 8.30 A.M. each day. On Saturdays all must be present in time to attend Mass at 9 A.M. at the Gesù.

Class begins at 9.00 A.M. No student will be admitted to the class-room after that hour without reporting to the Prefect of Discipline.

No one may leave before 2.30 P.M. without a valid excuse in writing from his parent or guardian and the permission of the Prefect of Studies.

In case of absence, a written excuse from parent or guardian accounting for such absence must be presented to the Prefect of Discipline; otherwise the student will be refused admission to the class on his return.

Undue haste in the corridors and all unnecessary noise in halls and class-rooms must be avoided.

Any injury done to the property of the College or of others, besides subjecting the offender to punishment, must be repaired at the expense of the parent or guardian.

All must be clean and neat in their appearance, polite to their companions and reverential to their superiors. No conduct unbecoming a gentleman will be tolerated.

Requirements for Admission.

Candidates for admission to advanced classes must pass a satisfactory examination upon all the subjects previously studied by the class which they desire to enter. There are three methods of admission to the Freshman Class:

1. Admission by graduation from St. Joseph's College High School. Those who have satisfactorily completed the course of St. Joseph's College High School are admitted without examination.

2. Admission by Certificate.—Graduates of certain High Schools, approved by vote of the Faculty are admitted without examination on presentation of a copy of the detailed programme of studies pursued by them in such schools and of a certificate from the Head Master stating that they have successfully completed the course and are prepared to enter college.

3. Admission by Examination.—Candidates who are not admitted by the first or second methods are required to pass the entrance examination as defined below. The programme of this examination is based on the course of studies in St. Joseph's College High School.

LATIN.

GRAMMAR: The entire Latin Grammar, including a knowledge of all regular syntactical constructions; translation into Latin, at sight, of complex English sentences, entailing the application of rules for relative clauses, indirect discourse and conditional sentences. Prosody. All the rules of quantity, including increments of nouns and verbs. Application of rules to hexameter and pentameter verse. Scansion of Ovid and Virgil.

COMPOSITION: Translation into Latin of easy continuous prose, based on Cæsar's Gallic War and on the Letters and Orations of Cicero.

AUTHORS—Nepos: Lives of Themistocles, Miltiades, Hannibal. Cæsar: De Bello Gallico, two books. Ovid: Metamorphoses and Tristia. Cicero: Selected Letters, De Senectute or De Amicitia, two of the Orations Against Catiline. Virgil: Bucolics I and IV.; Aeneid, two books. For some of these may be substituted Phædrus, Catullus, Sallust.

GREEK.

GRAMMAR: Etymology complete (including the irregular and defective forms); the rules for accents; the rules of Syntax and their application; the Homeric dialect.

COMPOSITION: Translation into Greek of simple English sentences based on Xenophon's Anabasis.

AUTHORS: Xenophon, Anabasis, Bks. I, II, III and IV. Homer, Iliad, Bks. I and II, or Odyssey, Bks. I and II.

N.B.—In the discussion of the classic authors, both Greek and Latin, the candidate must be prepared to give a complete grammatical analysis of every word, phrase and sentence, to point out exceptional idioms and to show knowledge of the chief points of collateral erudition connected with the text. Much more importance will be attached to this than to the mere reading of a large number of books.

ENGLISH.

HIGHER GRAMMAR: The candidate must be prepared on the matter contained in Davidson and Alcock's "English Grammar and Analysis," Coppen's "Introduction to Rhetoric," or some equivalent work.

COMPOSITION: A brief prose composition will be required, evidencing proficiency in narrative and critical writing. This exercise will be based on books and authors to be named below. Questions will be asked regarding the subject-matter, method of treatment, structure and style of these works. Fair penmanship and accurate spelling will be considered as essential preliminary requirements.

AUTHORS: Hawthorne, Tanglewood and Twice-Told Tales; Tennyson, Holy Grail and Morte d'Arthur; Addison's Sir Roger de Coverly; * Macaulay, Essays on Milton and Addison; * Milton, Minor Poems; * Shakespeare, Macbeth; * Burke, On Conciliation; Lowell, The Vision of Sir Launfal.

In the works marked thus * a careful study of the subject-matter, form, and structure will be exacted; a general acquaintance with the other assigned books will be sufficient.

HISTORY.

HISTORY: The History of the Oriental Nations, of Greece, Rome and England. Modern General History; Montgomery's History of the United States, or some equally good history; Civics.

MATHEMATICS.

Elementary and Higher Algebra; Geometry, Plane and Solid. Wentworth's Complete Algebra and Wentworth's Geometry, or works of equal grade.

MODERN LANGUAGES.

A fair reading knowledge of any modern language other than English is required, preferably French or German; the elements of Grammar, including irregular verbs; translation into English, at sight, of simple prose; grammatical analysis; ability to translate simple English prose into the foreign languages.

PROPUGNANDAE

Mense Junio, 1913

EX PSYCHOLOGIA.

I. Corpora viventia a non viventibus essentialiter differunt.

II. Vita vegetativa plantarum essentialiter differt a vita animalium.

III. Principium vitae tum in plantis tum in animalibus essentialiter differt ab omnibus viribus mechanicis et chimicis corporum inorganicorum.

IV. Principium vitae in animalibus unum est et vera forma corporis viventis quae etsi simplex est, non est tamen substantia per se subsistens sed existit dependenter a materia quam informat.

V. Anima brutorum caret intelligentia.

VI. Principium vitæ in homine simplex et spirituale est unum, nec peribit pereunte corpore sed in perpetuum superstes erit.

VII. Voluntas humana libertate indifferentiæ gaudet.

VIII. Ad originem idearum explicandam nihil aliud requiritur nisi vis qua anima donatur ut rerum quidditates ab eis quæ sensu percipiuntur abstrahere possit.

EX THEODICAEA.

IX. Existit ens necessarium, intellegens, æternum, absolute independens, immutabile.

X. Ens necessarium quod et simplicissimum et infinitum est non est materia, neque mundus, neque corpus, neque ens compositum ex spiritu et corpore.

XI. Ens necessarium quod unicum est utpote fons totius veritatis est perfectissimum.

XII. Deus cognoscit omnia possibilia, præterita, præsentia et futura sive ea sint absolute sive conditionate futura.

XIII. Deus liber est in suis actibus ad extra.

XIV. Creaturæ non solum egent singulis momentis directa et positiva conservatione a Deo eis præstanda sed etiam immediato concursu divino in omnibus et singulis actibus.

XV. Deus omnium et singularium rerum providentiam habet.

EX ETHICA.

I. Moralitas consistit in actus dependentia a voluntate libere operante et ratione advertente ad regulam morum.

II. Sunt actiones intrinsece et natura sua, ideoque independenter a quacumque voluntate, honestæ vel inhonestæ.

III. Norma proxima bonitatis et malitiæ moralis pro homine est ejusdem natura rationalis qua talis, norma vero ultima et universalis est ipsa essentia divina.

IV. Actus interior qui habet suam specificam et essentialem honestatem ab objecto, accipit etiam a circumstantiis honestatem intrinsecam et accidentalem, ex fine vero accipere potest bonitatem nonnisi extrinsecam et accidentalem.

V. Existit in Deo lex aeterna quam homo participat per veram legem naturalem.

VI. Existit legis naturalis sanctio in hac quidem vita nonnisi insufficiens et imperfecta, in futura vero sufficiens et perfecta in ultimi finis consecutione vel amissione sita.

VII. Lex positiva, ut obliget, debet esse honesta, justa, possibilis.

VIII. Admittendum est verum jus naturale independenter a quacumque lege positiva validum.

IX. Directa et privata auctoritate suscepta sui ipsius occisio legi naturali repugnat.

X. Mendacium legi naturali repugnat.

XI. Systema socialistarum falsis fundamentis innititur atque in se impossibile est et absurdum.

XII. Jus disponendi de bonis per ultimam voluntatem per se jure naturæ cuilibet competit: Mortuis parentibus intestatis liberi in bona eorum jure naturæ succedunt.

XIII. Spectata hodierna societatis conditione contractus fenebris per se non est illicitus.

XIV. Vinculum conjugii jure naturæ ita indissolubile est ut non nisi auctoritate divina solvi queat.

XV. Jus directe et immediate curandi educationem liberorum in ordine mere naturali per se ad solos parentes pertinet.

Examen in Ontologia et Cosmologia

Junioribus

In Collegio Sti. Josephi, Philadelphiensi

Subeundum Mense Junio, 1913

I. Notio entis prout predicatur de Deo, Creatura, substantia et accidente non est univoca nec equivoca sed est analoga.

II. Ultimum fundamentum et radix internae possibilitatis rerum est divina essentia quae propter suam infinitatem est de se et antecedenter ad divinum intellectum imitabilis ad extra infinitis modis.

III. Omne ens est unum.

IV. Omne ens est verum.

V. Omne ens est bonum sibi.

VI. Malum tum morale tum physicum non consistit in ente positivo sed in privatione alicujus perfectionis enti debitae.

VII. Notio substantiae habet valorem objectivum. Origo notionis.

VIII. Existunt accidentia realia. Haec accidentia sunt realiter a substantia distincta.

IX. Principium causalitatis est analyticum.

X. Finis est vera ac proprie dicta causa. Analysis causæ finalis.

XI. Origo mundi non explicatur per materiam aeternam et improductam.

XII. Origo mundi non potest explicari vel per transeuntem emanationem vel per evolutionem immanentem a substantia divina; ergo Pantheismus sub quacumque forma rejiciendus est.

XIII. Materia mundi non potuit oriri nisi per creationem.

XIV. Essentia corporis physici inorganici non est reponenda in sola extensione; ergo atomismus mechanicus rejiciendus est.

XV. Essentia corporis physici non est reponenda in viribus inextensis; ergo dynamismus rejiciendus est.

XVI. Admittenda est vera mutatio unius substantiae in aliam substantiam; ergo recte docuit Aristoteles corpus constare duabus partibus, videlicet: materia prima, elemento indifferenti et determinabili; altera vero forma substantiali, elemento determinante et activo.

XVII. De Spatio. Spatium reale non est substantia independens, sive materialis, sive spiritualis, neque est immensitas divina, sed in concreto identificatur cum actuali extensione corporum; spatium autem absolutum est ens rationis cum fundamento in re.

XVIII. Miracula: Varia genera. Miracula sunt tum intrisece tum extrinsece possibilia.

XIX. Dantur circumstantiae in quibus possumus certo cognoscere eventum aliquem provenire nec a viribus occultis naturae nec a malo spiritu, sed a Deo tamquam verum miraculum.

XX. De hypnotismo. Phaenomena quaedam spiritualistica et mesmerica non sunt miracula sed tribuenda sunt maligno spiritui.

College Organizations

Alumni Association

St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia

This association is composed of graduates of the College, who have received the degree of A.B. or A.M. in course, or such honorary degrees as the College may confer. Membership includes also those who in former years were in the College classes. The object of the association is to perpetuate College friendships and to further the interests of the College by active coöperation in her various activities.

A yearly business meeting followed by the annual banquet brings the members together in friendly union.

Sodality of the Immaculate Conception

COLLEGE

This Sodality was organized on January 4, 1890, on which day, after being duly aggregated to the Roman Prima Primaria, under the patronage of St. Stanislaus Kostka, it held its first meeting in the Church of the Gesù.

Its object is the fostering of a filial devotion to the Mother of God and the practice of virtue and piety among its members.

The Students' Library and Reading Room

The extensive improvements and alterations in the college buildings have made the Students' Library one of the handsomest and best equipped school libraries in the State. It contains almost ten thousand carefully selected volumes, with an abundance of reference books, standard magazines, reviews, etc., for the exclusive use of students.

The Library and Reading Room is open every class day from 8.30 to 9.00 A.M., 12.00 to 12.30 P.M., and from 2.30 to 3.30 P.M.

To meet current expenses and to assist in the purchase of new books a fee of one dollar a year is charged for membership. Not a little of past prosperity is due to the kindness of generous friends. It is hoped that a continuance of the same liberality will soon help to fill the shelves now vacant.

Special thanks are tendered the following benefactors:

REV. JAMES SMITH,
FREDERICK H. O'NEILL,

Standard for the Award of Prizes

The standard of marks is the following: the annual average, which is the resultant mark of the combined monthly averages, and the examination mark, determines the rank for class excellence.

Special Competitions and Examinations determine the rank in separate branches.

An average of over 90 per cent. merits an honorable distinction.

FOUNDED SCHOLARSHIPS AND PRIZES.

The friends and patrons of Catholic education can advance considerably the cause of higher education by generous co-operation and by rendering financial aid in accordance with their means. Though it may not be possible owing to a limited income for one to set aside and donate the amount required for the endowment of special courses or professorships, yet there is a way of helping the cause by the foundation of permanent scholarships and prizes. If a donation is made to the College in stocks or bonds or cash yielding an annual income of one hundred dollars, a scholarship in the College Department is thereby established. In the High School Department an income of sixty dollars is sufficient.

These permanently founded scholarships gain for the donors not only the many spiritual advantages accruing to our benefactors, but also in the title perpetuate the name and memory of the friend of Catholic higher education.

The same may be said in due proportion with regard to founded medals and prizes. A donation in stocks or bonds or in cash yielding an income of from ten dollars upward annually will establish a permanently founded medal or prize. The same advantages above mentioned are also gained by these donors.

To give a bright and deserving boy an opportunity to receive a thoroughly Catholic higher education and so aid him to become a better Christian and a better citizen, ought to urge friends and patrons of Catholic higher education to found scholarships and prizes, thus accomplishing lasting good for the individual and for society at large.

The St. Joseph's High School

GENERAL STATEMENT.

The High School, under the care of the Fathers of the Society of Jesus, offers a four years' course in English, Latin, Greek, Mathematics, History, French, German, and Science. A successful examination at the end of the Fourth Year admits the student into the Freshman class of St. Joseph's College. Graduates of the school are entitled to certificates for admission to professional schools.

CO-OPERATION OF PARENTS.

The authorities in charge of the High School consider themselves bound to procure, as far as possible, the advancement of all the students. To this end the teaching corps and the executive officers of the High School devote themselves; to this end a carefully graded course of studies and most painstaking method of instruction are directed. Yet all our efforts will fail unless the parents or guardians of the pupil co-operate with the authorities in securing compliance with the regulations of the school.

ATTENDANCE.

1. The most important of the regulations requiring the co-operation of the parent is regular daily attendance. A single day's absence may retard one's progress for many days to follow, and as marks are given for daily recitations, absence must necessarily lower the month's average, and may rob one of the class honors. Protracted absence would be an obstacle to promotion. This is true even of enforced absence, as from sickness. In no case will a student be re-admitted after absence, without a note from home stating the cause of his remaining away.

PUNCTUALITY.

2. Classes begin precisely at 9 A.M. and end at 2.30 P.M. (with a half-hour at noon for luncheon). Late-comers disturb the regularity of a class-room, and when lateness occurs frequently, it evidences a lack of interest in study, and is apt to foster a careless spirit, both in the individual and in the entire class where it is practised. This should explain the urgent insistence of the authorities on punctuality, and is the reason why a want of punctuality is liable to punishment.

STUDY AT HOME.

3. Parents and guardians are also urgently requested to require their charges to devote at least three hours a day to study at home. The work assigned each day is carefully calculated, and will, as a rule, require this amount of preparation. If it should seem otherwise, inquiry at the office will generally reveal that the student is not putting forth his best efforts.

MONTHLY REPORTS.

4. It is also important for parents to inspect carefully the monthly report of the pupil's work, submitted to them shortly after the first of each month. One hundred is the maximum mark. Those receiving over 95 per cent. are given a First Honor card, those receiving over 90 per cent., a Second Honor card. Any mark below 60 indicates deficient work. Parents who note the contents of these reports have certified knowledge of the standing of the student in the respective branches.

EXAMINATIONS.

Examinations are held semi-annually, in January and June. In Latin and Greek the examinations are both written and oral; in Mathematics and the other branches written tests only are exacted.

Promotions are decided by the monthly marks of the entire year, combined with those of the examinations, the monthly marks counting two-thirds, the examinations one-third. A student who, at any period of the year, especially at the mid-year examination, proves himself unfit for his class, is liable to be placed in a lower grade.

PRIZES.

The medal in each class is awarded to the student obtaining the highest average over 90 per cent. in his marks for the entire year, and a prize is also given to the next in merit. Students attaining a yearly average of 90 per cent. are entitled to "honorable mention."

STUDENTS' REFERENCE LIBRARY

REGULATIONS

For the Students of St. Joseph's High School.

The College gates are opened at 8.30 A. M. each day. On Saturdays all must be present in time to attend Mass at 9.00 A.M. at the Gesù.

Class begins at 9.00 A.M. No student will be admitted to the class-room after that hour without reporting to the Prefect of Discipline.

No one may leave before 2.30 P.M. without a valid excuse in writing from the parent or guardian and the permission of the Prefect of Studies.

In case of absence, a written excuse from the parent or guardian accounting for such absence must be presented to the Prefect of Discipline; otherwise the student will not be admitted to the class on his return.

Undue haste in the corridors and all unnecessary noise in halls and class-rooms must be avoided.

Any injury done to the property of the College, or of others, besides subjecting the offender to punishment, must be repaired at the expense of the parent or guardian.

All must be clean and neat in their appearance, polite to their companions and reverential to their superiors. No conduct unbecoming a gentleman will be tolerated.

Requirements for Admission

TO THE

High School Department.

Students may enter at any time during the year and on examination will be assigned to the classes for which their previous studies have fitted them; but it will be found most to their interest to enter in September.

Admission to the High School Department supposes the completion of the Grammar Course in either the parochial or public schools. In detail, candidates for admission should be able to give satisfactory answers to the following points:

1. ENGLISH.—The common use of capital letters and of punctuation marks; parts of speech and their modifications; syntax; kinds of sentences; parsing and analysis of complex sentences. Composition work in the form of a letter or short narrative may be exacted.

2. ARITHMETIC.—Factors; common and decimal fractions; denominate numbers; percentage and its common applications; ratio and proportion; square root, cube root.

3. GEOGRAPHY.—Natural features as well as the locality and size of continents and political divisions of continents, with forms of government, capitals, chief cities, bodies of water, staple products, etc.; sub-divisions of the United States by states, with capitals, etc., as above.

4. HISTORY.—Principal events of United States History; discoveries; settlements; wars and their causes; the chief actors in these events.

DESCRIPTION OF COURSES.

In the High School all subjects are obligatory upon students desiring a certificate of graduation at the end of the four years' course* It is not indeed to be supposed that Latin and Greek, or even Geometry and Algebra will always prove directly serviceable in after-life. Rather they are prescribed and insisted on in the conviction that no other studies are better calculated to bring out the intellectual resources of a young mind and thus equip it with the power necessary in the competition of later years. Not all find these studies equally easy or equally to their taste. But we are persuaded that all with few exceptions are capable of mastering them; and on the other hand, it is certainly not the aim of any educational system to train youth for the easy and agreeable things of life, but rather to render him capable of sustained and steady mental effort—to enable him by the training he has received to face the obstacles in his path and surmount them—to comprehend the difficulties and deal with them successfully. The attention, application and energy developed by the course of studies are only some of the advantages to be gained. Hence the course is intended not only for those who afterwards will actually make use of Latin and Greek in professional life, but for all who desire a cultivated mind and intellectual power. Few would controvert the fact that, other things being equal, the lad who has had a training in Latin, Greek and Mathematics will be, in every department of life, the intellectual superior of him who has not.

THE LATIN COURSE.

The Latin course embraces the three elements, grammar study, translation from English into Latin or theme work, and translation from Latin into English, usually from an author of the Augustan age. The author is read with two distinct aims, viz., primarily as a study of Latin forms, entailing the constant exercise of observation, analysis and generalization, and secondarily, for the sake of the context, useful as stimulating interest in matter otherwise unattractive, and broadening ideas and sympathies by contact with writers of remote periods.

*In the modern language course, comprising French, German and Spanish, only one language is of obligation; and the student may, under the advice of his parents and his teacher, select that one of the three languages offered, which he may prefer.

THE FIRST YEAR—of Latin is spent in acquiring the common etymological forms, and such elementary syntax as is necessary for translation. Translation from English into Latin is done from the beginning of the year, both orally and in the form of themes written at home.

THE SECOND YEAR—reviews the work in etymology, including at the same time the exceptional forms of nouns and verbs, and takes a broad survey of the entire syntax. The themes, written and oral, are fashioned to bring these rules into constant use.

THE THIRD YEAR—reviews the entire syntax with more detail than the preceding year. Oral and written theme-work continues, and translation.

THE FOURTH YEAR—takes the student through the entire grammar, to complete his acquaintance with details and exceptional constructions, the prescribed ideal being "absoluta cognitio." The study of Latin prosody is also begun. To the usual theme-work, elementary exercises are added in the making of dactylic hexameters and distichs.

N.B.—Attention is called to the persistent repetitions and reviews that characterise the system. Another feature is the "Praelectio" or preparatory explanation given by the teacher before every lesson that is assigned to be studied out of class.

THE GREEK COURSE.

THE FIRST YEAR. In the first year no time is allotted to the study of Greek. During the second term, however, the boys are taught "legere et scribere" in this language as a preparation for the following year.

THE SECOND YEAR. The distinctive work of this year is to master once and for all the conjugation of all the typical verbs. To this is added elementary syntax (and its application in written themes), in so far as to make possible the reading of Xenophon's Anabasis in the second half-year.

THE THIRD YEAR. During this year the student is taken through the general rules of syntax, covering both simple and complex sentences, though not in minute detail. The declensions and conjugations are also reviewed and the principal exceptions noted. Theme-work is continued as usual.

WIRELESS OPERATING ROOM

The Fourth Year. The entire syntax in detail is the subject matter of this year's work; also the peculiarities of the Homeric grammar. Themes are given as usual, based on the grammar rules.

THE ENGLISH COURSE.

The English course consists of three elements, Rhetoric, Composition, Literature. The Rhetoric deals with the practice of writing clear, orderly and forceful English, and hence looks to the Composition as its fulfilment. The Literature aims to develop literary appreciation as far as can be, i.e., by stimulating the imagination, the taste and the critical faculty. A general notion of the life and work of the authors read is required together with the general subject matter and setting of the selection. Additional reading is prescribed for homework, written reports of which are made in the class-room.

The First Year. For many reasons it has been found necessary to devote the first year to a review of English syntax, which therefore takes the place of the rhetoric. Short exercises in composition are given during every recitation period, and a weekly composition is required in which corrections are made principally in grammar, punctuation and the external form of the written page. Selections from Longfellow and Walter Scott are carefully read in the class-room, the main purpose being to awaken the literary imagination by forming vivid mental pictures of what is read.

The Second Year. The object of the rhetorical study is to create the first instinct of literary form in the construction of sentences and short paragraphs. It is believed that this can best be done by imitation; hence sentences, and later in the year, paragraphs from Irving are minutely studied, and then imitated by the class during every recitation period, and this imitation is further practiced in the weekly composition. The literature aims to develop through the imagination an appreciation for the ideal in scenes and occurrences familiar to youthful experience. Goldsmith and Bryant are read with this end in view. Additional reading is prescribed for work out of class.

The Third Year. Literary structure is studied and practiced with more attention to types of sentences and paragraphs; also to unity and the use of the topic sentence, to coherence and the use of transitions. Lamb, Hawthorne and De Quincey are read, class-room exercises are assigned, together with weekly compositions to be done at home, by way of reducing the theory to practice. The object of the literature is to awaken a sense of the power and beauty of language in diction and phraseology, selections from Tennyson and Cowper being the medium for such instruction.

The Fourth Year. The rhetoric is directed to instruction in the forms of composition and also to the cultivation of forceful expression, through the use of concrete and concise language. The work of the preceding year is also reviewed in detail. Macaulay, Addison and Webster are read in connection with the rhetoric, and the written work is prescribed as in the preceding years. The instruction in literature has for its purpose to develop the faculty of literary criticism, i.e., the power to analyze thought-progression, or at least to discern thought-progression when indicated, to discriminate between what is good and what is best in the selection read, and to regard each work as an expression of the writer's character and his attitude towards life and human problems. Tennyson, Wordsworth and Shakespeare are the poets in this year's curriculum.

THE HISTORY COURSE.

Greek and Roman history are assigned to the first two years. The general purpose of this earlier instruction is to widen the reach of the imagination, and hence of the powers of appreciation, by sympathetic contact with men and events of remote periods. The history lesson is first dilated on by the teacher in the presence of the class, his aim being to give more coloring, more human interest and stronger relief to special episodes and individuals than is to be found in a text-book. At home, the pupil reviews the same matter, and should be prepared to give the essential features at the next recitation period.

In the third and fourth years the subject-matter is English and United States history. During these two years more attention is given to the significance of events in the growth of the nation and to the nation's progress along political and economic lines. The same general method is employed as in the first year, i.e., recitations preceded by prelection—with this addition, that questions are frequently dictated to the student requiring some analysis and comparison of events, and leading to conclusions that have not been expressly put before him. The course is completed by a short treatise on Civil Government during the last half-year.

THE MODERN LANGUAGE COURSE.

The French and German courses begin in the second year and continue to the end of the High School. They are alternative courses, the choice of one of the languages being left with the student as he enters the second year. The object is practical, rather than disciplinary. A fluent reading knowledge of easy prose and some readiness in speaking should be attained at the end of the course.

The work of the first year comprises the rudiments of grammar in each language, viz: the elementary rules of syntax and the inflection of the regular conjugations, continual exercise in reading and conversation and passages for easy translation. The second and third years' work, after reviewing the preceding parts of the grammar goes on to the study of the irregular verbs and the entire syntax including exceptions, exercises in reading, conversation and translation as before.

N.B.—The amount of reading done each year may be seen by reference to the schedule of courses.

THE MATHEMATICS COURSE.

Algebra is assigned to the first two years and the first half of the third year. The first year's work comprises the elements as far as fractional equations; the second year includes simultaneous equations, involution and evolution, quadratics, simple indeterminate equations, inequalities and the theory of exponents; in the first half of the third year the pupil studies logarithms, ratio and proportion, series, choice, the binomial theorem, chance, interest formulas, continued fractions and the theory of limits.

The last year and a half of the High School course is devoted to Plane and Solid Geometry.

THE CHRISTIAN DOCTRINE COURSE.

Some time is given every class day to the recitation of the Catechism from memory. The pupils are thus taken through De Harbe's larger Catechism twice during the four years. In addition to these recitations, an instruction is given every week for one half-hour in some topic of Christian Doctrine connected with the recitation in the Catechism. Non-Catholic students are exempted from the recitations and are not required to be present during the weekly instruction.

THE ELOCUTION COURSE.

Once a week each class is drilled separately in gesture and vocal expression. In the first two years, rather more attention is given to smooth, properly phrased and correctly emphasized reading than to other details. Students are required to recite before the class from time to time, and a contest is held every year for a silver medal awarded at the High School Commencement exercises.

SPECIAL STUDENTS.

In a special class, provision is made for students who may lack some of the requirements for unconditional entrance to any regular class. In this class, the deficiency in Greek or Latin, or both, is remedied during the first year, or the first term, according to the preparation of the student and his co-operation with his instructors.

PREPARATORY CLASS.

To satisfy the demands for admittance of boys who have not as yet reached the High School grade, a Preparatory Class has been instituted,—made up of students from Seventh or Eighth Grammar School grade, who give promise of qualifying for the High School within a year. It is not a regularly graded class, but one in which special attention is given to preparation for High School entrance requirements.

SODALITY OF OUR LADY, QUEEN OF ANGELS

Under the Patronage of St. Stanislaus

This Sodality is intended to help the members pass the years of their boyhood in the greatest purity by the practice of solid devotion to the Blessed Virgin and their Guardian Angel after the example of the model and patron of youth, St. Stanislaus. There are two divisions—Junior Sodality, (B) is restricted to the younger students.

THE BARBELIN DEBATING SOCIETY.

This Society, named in memory of the first President of the College, is composed of members of the classes of Special Classics, Third and Fourth Year High. Meetings are held weekly.

Its object is to teach the younger students how the proceedings of deliberative bodies are conducted, to practice them in public speaking, to develop and to direct the talent for argument and oratory so often unrecognized and unused by the young, and to fit them for the higher purposes and more ambitious aims of the Villiger Debating Society.

OFFICERS OF THE BARBELIN DEBATING SOCIETY.

MR. DANIEL I. CRONIN, S.J., MODERATOR.
ALOYSIUS V. AYRES, President.
JAMES A. GALLAGHER, Vice-President.
CLAUDE L. SOMMAR, Secretary.
FRANCIS X. PEIRCE, Treasurer.

AWARDING OF MEDALS AND PRIZES

IN THE

HIGH SCHOOL DEPARTMENT

The standard of rating is the same as in the College Department.

The annual average, which is the resultant mark of the combined monthly averages and the examination mark, determines the rank for class-standing.

Special competitions and examinations determine the rank in separate branches.

An average of 90 per cent. and over merits an honorable distinction.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

The Rev. President and officials of the College wish to express their grateful thanks and assurance of prayerful remembrance:

To the Members of the Faculty for their earnest cooperation in all matters pertaining to the best interests of the College and for the devoted zeal with which they labored in the cause of Catholic Education.

To the parents and guardians of the students for their helpfulness in enforcing at home the regulations regarding study and discipline.

To all the Friends and Patrons of the College. Special mention with affectionate remembrance is made of Francis Anthony Drexel whose generous benefactions in the past contributed so largely to the successful development of the College equipment.

To Mr. John McGlinn for his munificent donation, in memory of his deceased wife, of the beautiful chapel in the new faculty building.

To his Grace, the Most Reverend Archbishop Edmond F. Prendergast, D. D., to his worthy coadjutor, the Right Reverend Bishop John J. McCort, D. D.. and to the members of the Clergy for their kindly interest in our work of higher education and many expressions of esteem and approval.

To the members of the Gesu Parish whose generous and efficient cooperation has contributed so materially to lessen the burdens and lighten the responsibilities incident to the erection of our new Faculty building.

To the Founders of the following Scholarships and Medals:

The League Scholarship, founded by the Apostleship of Prayer, Church of the Gesu.

The Reilly Scholarship, founded by Mr. Thomas Reilly.

The St. Joseph's Scholarship, founded by the Rev. John Scully, S. J., former Rector of old St. Joseph's Church, Willing's Alley.

The Coleman Scholarship, founded by Mr. Henry C. Coleman, deceased.

The McCullough Scholarship, founded by Miss Catherine McCullough, deceased.

"The Mary Nebinger Fund" Scholarships, from the estate of her beloved husband, James B. McMinn, deceased.

The William F. Harrity Scholarship from the estate of William F. Harrity, Esq., deceased.
